ABOUT MEAT BUSINESS WOMEN

Meat Business Women (MBW) is a global professional network committed to connecting, inspiring, and advancing women across the meat industry. With a mission to address gender disparity across the supply chain, MBW supports women's personal and professional growth by providing access to development opportunities, industry insights and a strong network of peers and mentors. Our work drives positive change and strengthens capability across the sector.

Each year, MBW hosts a National Conference in Australia. The 2025 event brought together 230 professionals for a day of learning, connection and industry engagement, and achieved strong satisfaction results, with an average rating of 4.12 out of 5 and more than 92 percent of respondents likely to attend again in 2025. Delegates highlighted networking, inspirational speakers and MBW's welcoming, professional environment as key strengths. This reflects the growing impact of MBW's work and the appetite for events that support capability, confidence and connection across all levels of the industry.

Since its inception, MBW has gained significant global recognition, including acknowledgement from the United Nations for progress in gender inclusion. Our programs and events support members from processing, retail, production, government and service sectors, offering pathways for mentoring, leadership, upskilling and community building. Feedback from the 2025 conference reinforced the importance of structured opportunities for connection and diverse content relevant to an evolving industry, and this continues to guide our planning for 2026.

Join us as a sponsor and be part of a growing movement that champions progress, equity and opportunity for women in the meat industry.
